Celebrate Mommyhood

You're invited to A Baby Affair, the must-attend event for D.C.-area parents-to-be. The March 17 event will introduce parents to a carefully curated collection of products and services, including apparel, baby gear, nutritionists, financiers and home goods, all at the Long View Gallery in D.C. Hear from a panel of experts, taste confections from D.C.'s best bakeries and see a designer runway presentation. Presented by Let Mommy Sleep. A limited number of $25 tickets are available; visit ababyaffairdc.com and use code WASHPARENT.

Skip the Doctor's Office Waiting Room

Don't waste your time or money on long sits in your doctor's waiting room and dealing with office bureaucracy. Palisades Pediatrics is a small practice with direct access to the physician, allowing for care well beyond what you would receive via traditional health insurance. For an annual fee, families receive around-the-clock services, including phone calls, home visits, immunizations, screenings, sports and camp physicals, prescriptions and travel visits. Reclaim the decision-making power for your child's health and avoid doctor's office germs.
