
The Siena School Featured on Public Television (MCT Channel 21)

Siena Founder Erik Heyer Appears on Montgomery Week in Review

SILVER SPRING, MARYLAND, May 10, 2007 – Today, The Siena School was featured on Montgomery Community Television's Montgomery Week in Review, with host Ken Muir.

Siena founder Erik Heyer was invited on the program to discuss Siena's establishment and its success to date. The program airs on cable channel 21 (Montgomery County) and will be repeated Sunday, May 13, 2007 at 9:00AM and 7:30PM.

About The Siena School

The Siena School is an outstanding new private school in Silver Spring, Maryland serving bright, college-bound students with language-based learning differences, such as dyslexia. Siena's staff and board of advisors include distinguished national, state and local education leaders and professionals. The school was established in 2006 to serve students in grades 5 – 9, and will grow to serve grades 4 – 12 by 2009. Siena's program is designed for students with mild to moderate learning needs who are experiencing a discrepancy between their academic achievement and intellectual abilities in one or more areas such as reading, writing, oral expression or math. Siena delivers an individualized educational program featuring small class sizes, research-based instructional methodologies, a highly trained staff and an educational environment specifically designed to meet the unique needs of our students. For further information, The Siena School can be contacted at (301) 592-0567 or on the web at www.thesienaschool.org.

###